

15/08/2007 Good weekend at Mallory Park.

Written by Frosty

Wednesday, 15 August 2007 21:38 - Last Updated Wednesday, 15 August 2007 21:40

And good weather too boot.....

We were invited along to the Retro Rides show at Mallory Park last weekend. The brief was to enjoy ourselves and do some demo launches. I would have really liked to have a good go on the sprint track but the car just isn't made for that, although if I'd have took the bonnet off I could have seen the apex's of the corners and gone a little quicker!!

Sunday was a VSCC racing day. Plenty of action from these monsters from the past. My favorite was the Formula junior cars. 1ltr Cooper engines that screamed (for 60's motors!) around the track. Go to <http://retrorides.proboards86.com/index.cgi?board=general> to see images from the track.

{gallery}RV1/mallory/{/gallery}

Next race meeting is Shakespeare County on bank holiday weekend. Hopefully we can maintain our championship lead. After that it gets real busy for the team. Trax is a week after, then the Tuesday after it's up to Santa Pod for the Euro finals, inc the press day. Hopefully we can set the pump gas record a bit lower...